Environmentalist and TV personality Dr David Bellamy visited a Devon resort to help promote the area as a visitor destination. Dr Bellamy visited Dawlish Warren at the invitation of Dawlish Warren Tourism.

A spokesman for the organisation said: "The primary objective of the visit was for Dr Bellamy to see and appreciate Dawlish Warren's successful combination of maintaining and protecting a valuable national nature reserve, while promoting the resort as a tourist destination in order to increase the number of visitors to the Warren each year." Dr Bellamy visited the nature reserve with representatives of Natural England and the Devon Wildlife Trust, and met officers from Teignbridge District Council.
